GENERAL INFORMATION

LARK UNIVERSITY is a Christian school, founded in the year 1870 by the Freedman's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. It is open to students of all classes, and both sexes, the sole conditions of admission being a desire to learn, good moral character, and obedience to lawfully constituted authority.

Location

The buildings and grounds are located just south of the corporate limits of the city of Atlanta, Ga. The campus is sufficiently elevated to overlook the city, and has perfect drainage on all sides. It is beautifully shaded with oaks and pines which, with its elevation—1,200 feet above sea level—makes it a delightful retreat even in midsummer. It would be difficult to find a more healthful location in the United States.

Accessibility

The South Pryor and Federal Prison electric car line passes the campus gate, affording frequent communication with the center of the city. Atlanta is the great railroad center of the South, and is readily accessible from all points. The city contains about one hundred and eighty thousand inhabitants, and enjoys all the conveniences of modern city life making it an admirable location for a large school.

Buildings

Chrisman Hall, a large commodious brick building, named for Mrs. Eliza Chrisman, of Topeka, Kansas, is the main edifice. The two lower stories are devoted to recitation rooms, study rooms, library and offices; the upper, to professors' rooms, young men's dormitory, reading room and young men's reception room.

The chapel occupies the third floor in the south wing, and will accommodate an audience of six hundred. The dormitory accommodates one hundred students.

Warren Hall, a four story brick building, named in honor of Bishop Warren, contains the boarding department and young women's dormitory. The dining hall is large enough to seat comfortably three hundred students ; the dormitory accommodates ninety. The building is well equipped with kitchen, laundry, store-room cold-storage, etc.

Thayer Home, named in honor of E. O. Thayer, D. D., of Barre, Vermont, a former president of Clark University, accommodates thirty young women as resident students. This Home is for the training of young women in the essentials of home making, and for the teaching of industries.

Ballard Hall, a brick structure, is a gift of the late Stephen Ballard, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The first floor is occupied by the Physical Laboratory and the Printing Department. Large, well equipped Chemical and Biological Laboratories and lecture-room occupy the second floor.

The Iron-working Department occupies a one-story brick building.

There are also on the grounds a modern barn and other out buildings for the use of the Agricultural Department.

A new dairy barn and creamery have been erected during the past year, equipped with the most modern appliances for sanitary and efficient service in caring for this part of our work. The barn and creamery both have cement floors, electric lights, and the best arrangement for proper care of milk. This entire plant, costing $3,000 is the gift of Mr. William Deering, of Chicago, Ill.

In addition to these buildings are five cottages used as teachers' residences.

All buildings are heated by steam.

Terms of Admission

Students under six years of age will not be enrolled.

Boarding students under fourteen years of age will not be admitted.

Students are admitted and classified by examination, or by certificates from accredited schools.

Every student may choose the course he wishes to pursue, but when it has been chosen, he cannot change it without the consent of the faculty. Special students may select such courses as, in the judgment of the faculty, they are capable of pursuing profitably, but no change will be made in the schedule of recitations to accommodate them. Pupils coming from other schools must present a certificate of honorable dismissal.

Government

No pupil will be assigned to a room or admitted to a class until he presents a ticket showing that he has settled with the Registrar. The act of registration pledges all pupils to obey the regulations of the school until formally released therefrom.

In addition to the observance of specific regulations, all students are expected to work. Immorality, the use of alcohol and tobacco will not be tolerated. The discipline of this school is designed to encourage self-government. Every influence is thrown around the student to develop culture and character.

The purpose of the institution is to promote broad and accurate scholarship, along with a high type of character.

Only such as manifest earnestness and moral purpose can remain connected with the institution. Those who disregard the few necessary rules framed for the individual and general good, separate themselves from the University.

Privileges

Resident male students, sixteen years of age or more, who have been members of the school for at least one month, and who during that time, have proved themselves studious and law abiding, shall be regarded privileged students. These are permitted to be absent from the grounds between the hours of 4:30 p. m. and 5:30 p. m. on school days, and between 2 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Saturdays. No other resident student is allowed to leave the campus without written permission.* Young women are not permitted to leave the grounds at any time without a chaperon.

The Religious Atmosphere

The life of the University from its beginning has been directed by men and women of unswerving faith in Christianity. No religious tests are imposed on any student. Perfect freedom is guaranteed to everyone. At the same time it is true that the authorities of the University believe that religious development is a matter of primary importance, and that no intellectual culture can compensate for this dwarfing of the religious nature. The atmosphere of the University is frankly and unequivocally Christian. It stands for broad and strong scholarship and the highest moral and religious life.

Chapel exercises are held every day in the week, with the exception of Sunday, under the direction of members of the faculty. All students are required to be present at these exercises.

The University is a regular appointment in the Atlanta Conference. The professors of Gammon Theological Seminary supply the pulpit.

All students are required to attend chapel services each day. Boarding students are required to attend services each Sunday in the University Church, and are not allowed to leave the campus on Sunday without permission.

Board and Room

The dormitories of the institution have been fitted up with a view to making the students as comfortable as possible in every way. The rooms are well lighted and are furnished with plain and substantial furniture. As many of the teachers occupy rooms in these dormitories, the opportunity for association with them is a valuable part of the training received.

---

*Juniors and Seniors at any time that will not conflict with their studies.

The boarding department has recently been refitted and every effort is made to give the students good, wholesome food.

Boarding Hall

All students from a distance are required to board and room on the campus, unless especially excused by the faculty.

No student will be permitted to board off the grounds excepting in places that have been approved by the faculty.

Parents should not make other arrangements without consulting the faculty. The institution assumes no responsibility for students who are boarding off the grounds.

All bills are due in advance, and should be paid by the first of each scholastic month. Students whose bills are not settled within ten days after due may be excluded from the school. All seniors are required to board and room on the campus.

A Key-Fund deposit of $2.00 is required of each boarding student upon entering school to cover possible damages to room furnishings. When a student withdraws from school, all the money not expended for damages is refunded.

Uniform for the Young Women

The faculty of Clark University has adopted a costume for the young women boarding on the campus, to be worn at the public exercises of the school, including Sunday services, and whenever students leave the campus.

These costumes will be provided at the school and no others will be accepted for substitutes. Arrangements have been made with one of the leading firms of the city, to furnish them at first cost. The suits will be of heavy blue cheviot and will cost from $10 to $12.

The dressmaking department will duplicate the same costume in cheaper material for students who wish a less expensive suit. Hats may also be purchased at the Thayer Home at the school.

Self Help

The question of expense is always perplexing for the reason that most students attending college in the South are purposeful young people who must largely support themselves. Students are urged to help themselves as far as possible, and some do earn their way through the University. The institution requires of every boarding student one hour's work each day for the University. For work over this time, wages are paid at the rate of 7 1-2 cents per hour. Hitherto we have been able to furnish a few students with work on the campus to the amount of two or three dollars per month, but we cannot guarantee to furnish work. Atlanta offers many facilities to those desiring employment, and we can often assist them to secure positions. Independence and self-reliance are constantly taught. It is possible for a few deserving students in the advanced classes to secure loans, through the recommendation of the University, from the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Advice

On arriving in Atlanta, take any east bound car at the Terminal Station and ask for a transfer to the South Pryor and Federal Prison car and get off at the campus gate, in full view of the University buildings. Arriving at the Union Station, take the Federal Prison Car at the Whitehall street viaduct. Bring your check with you and present it to the Registrar who will have your trunk transferred for twenty-five cents. By so doing you will save money. Students are requested to avoid Sunday travel as much as possible.

Plan to arrive in the city in daylight, as it is inconvenient to reach the University at night. The cars cease running at 12 p. m.

When parents send daughters without an escort, if they will notify the President of the time of their arrival, some one will be waiting at the station to receive and conduct them to the University.

Students are requested to send money direct to the President, who will credit it as instructed, and send a receipt by return mail. Remittance direct to the President will guard against extravagance. Instructions from parents as to the amount to be allowed for personal expenditures will be strictly followed.

Students should be provided with umbrellas, overshoes and waterproof garments, as recitations are conducted without regard to weather.

EVERY STUDENT MUST PROVIDE HIMSELF WITH SHEETS AND PIL-

LOW CASES AND A STOUT BAG IN WHICH TO CARRY HIS CLOTHING TO AND FROM THE LAUNDRY. CLOTHING MUST BE PLAINLY MARKED, IN INDELIBLE INK, WITH THE OWNER'S NAME.

Without text books it is impossible to accomplish satisfactory work. We cannot expose both student and teacher to a serious disadvantage, and, therefore, shall exclude from the classroom all students who are not provided with necessary books. Every boarding student is expected to come furnished with a Bible. Students must pay for books when they take them from the book room. No credit on books.

Library—L. H. King, Librarian

There are about two thousand volumes in the Library. Will not some benevolent friends endow this Library, so that each year it may be replenished with valuable works as they are issued from the press?

Reading Rooms

The students have access to three reading rooms: two for the young women in Warren Hall and Thayer Home respectively and one in Chrisman for the young men. These rooms are supplied with the leading magazines and secular and religious papers.

Literary Societies

The Alpha Sigma and Philomathian Societies for young men and the Marigold Club for young women furnish ample opportunity for practice in extemporaneous speaking and parliamentary usages.

Adjunct Schools

Principals of high schools and of grammar and district schools will be furnished with catalogues containing our courses of study. We invite correspondence with the view of making their courses and ours articulate as closely as possible, so that students may enter the University at any time without suffering the disadvantages arising from widely diverging courses of study. Most of our patronage must come from public schools, but we are especially anxious to cultivate friendly relations with Cookman Institute, Jacksonville, Fla.; La Grange Academy; The Haven Academy, Waynesboro, Ga., and the Haven Home, Savannah, Ga. We invite correspondence from the principals of these schools with regard to pupils who may desire to enter advanced classes. Address the President of Clark University, South Atlanta Station, Atlanta, Ga.

The Marigold Club Scholarship

The Marigold Club Scholarship of $50, founded in 1907, is open to the young women of the school on the following conditions:—

No. 1. The scholarship is to be given to an ambitious girl prepared to begin the Preparatory work of the Third Year.

No. 2. She must be a sincere, sober and zealous Christian.

No. 3. She must pass special examinations in the Second Year English, Latin, Mathematics and History with an average of 90 per cent.

In the work of the Third Year she must maintain an average of 80 per cent. in order to retain the scholarship for the following year.

No. 4. If a Clark University student, she must maintain an average of 80 per cent. in her past year's work, in order to be a candidate for the scholarship. She must also have an unquestionable record of deportment.

No. 5. She must at the time of examination, write an essay containing five hundred words on some subject presented by the Marigold Club. The essay, together with her examination paper, is to be rated by the English Instructor of Clark University and one Instructor from two other schools. The essay must be marked as high as 90 per cent.

No. 6. Any young woman desirous of taking the examinations for the scholarship must make formal application to the Secretary of the Faculty on or before the second Saturday after the opening of school in the fall. The examinations will begin on the third Friday of the school year.

No. 7. The application for the scholarship must be endorsed by the principal of the school that the candidate last attended, by her pastor and three good women of that church.

Department of Instruction

The University comprises the following departments: The College, The Preparatory, The Normal, The Grade, a school of Agriculture, Printing, and Domestic Science.

Information Relating to Entrance

The privileges of all departments of the University are extended to both sexes alike. The students of the College Preparatory and Normal Departments enjoy all privileges open to the students in the College Departments, including library, lectures, laboratories, religious and social privileges.

Examinations for admission to any of the departments of the University are held in the fall at the opening of the college year. See announcements.

Students entering on other than registration days are required to pay a registration fee of one dollar in addition to other incidentals.

All applicants for admission to the first year of the Preparatory or Normal School must either pass a satisfactory examination in subjects covered by the Grade School of this Institution, or must present a certificate showing that they have completed an equivalent course in other schools.

All College students are required to be in school by the middle of October of their Senior year.

Special Music Students

Special students in music will be enrolled on condition that they devote at least four hours per day to music, and that they take at least one other subject prescribed by the head of the department of music.

Admission to Advanced Standing

Candidates for advanced standing are not admitted later than October of the year in which they expect to graduate. All students from other schools must present certificates of honorable dismissal and give satisfactory evidence of preparation for the course that they desire to enter. The amount of credit to be obtained for work done in another institution is determined by a committee of the faculty. No advance credit will be given without examination, except for work done in an approved school. No student will be recommended for a Bachelor's degree until credit has been obtained for at least one full year of work in residence at this institution.

Admission on Probation

Any applicant deficient in not more than one of the subjects required for the rank to which he seeks admission, may be admitted conditionally by the faculty. All such conditions must be removed before the student will be permitted to begin the work of the next year.

It should be clearly understood that students admitted on probation, and students admitted on certificates from other schools, are subject to the following regulation:

If the work of a student shall prove unsatisfactory in the first semester he shall either be reclassified or required to withdraw from the school until the beginning of the next year, when he must review the work.

Courses of Study

The courses of study here presented and scheduled are the ones provided by the annual Association of College Presidents of the Freedman's Aid Schools at the annual meeting in Nashville, Tenn., March 4-9, 1910. The purpose in making this course is to provide for uniformity in the plan of instruction among our schools, and to secure the twofold purpose of education: first: to acquire knowledge, and second: to train the mind to think.

In making a comparison between this course and the one already in operation in Clark University, it is found to contain but little that is essentially different except the arrangement of the studies. The actual requirements are about the same.

The completion of either of these courses will lead to graduation. Those completing the Classical Course will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Those completing the Normal Course will receive a diploma.

The credit system is established along with the new curriculum. The Classical College Course contains 152 credits; the Preparatory Course contains 190 credits and the Normal Course entire 200 credits. By "credit" is meant the number of recitations per week in a single study. This is indicated on the schedule pages 30—32, by the small figures following each study as it is named. The 190 credits and the 152 credits of the College course making 342 are necessary for graduation in the Classical Course, and 200 in the Normal course.

All candidates for graduation are required to be present at the services at which the Baccalaureate service is preached, also to participate in the commencement exercises as the faculty may determine. On both these occasions the academic costume (cap and gown) must be worn.

All University fees must be paid by each candidate before a diploma is issued to him.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

The Agricultural Department at Clark University is open to students desiring to take a course in agriculture, or to work their way in school. Persons applying should be 16 years of age, of good moral character, in good health and willing to work.

All applicants, wishing to work their way, are required to bring with them, 1 dress suit, 1 every-day suit, 2 suits of overalls, 1 pair of work shoes, 1 pair of dress shoes, 1 work hat and 1 dress hat, 2 suits of underwear, 4 shirts, 6 pairs of socks, 6 collars, 2 pairs of cuffs, 1 tooth brush and 1 comb and brush, and $2.00 to be deposited to cover breakage and damage to furniture.

Any frugal student bringing the above named articles, and working eight hours per day and going to night school the first year, may pay his expenses, and also earn a credit which will enable him to enter the day school the second year; and by working after school hours and during the vacation of the second year, he may pay his expenses, and also earn a credit which will enable him to continue in the day school the third year. By working in this manner after his first year in school, the student may attend day school until he completes his education. Thus, we hope to put an education within the reach of every Negro youth who is willing to work for it.

All students desiring to enter this department should write for application blanks, which are to be filled out and returned before they enter school.

The student will be required to sign a contract, stating his willingness to work under the regulations of this Department.

THE DEPARTMENT OF DOMESTIC ECONOMY

This department is carried on in Thayer Home, a modern and convenient building on the campus, erected and maintained by the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. A limited number of girls are resident students, who do the work of the home alternately, so as to give a practical knowledge of housekeeping. Lectures are given during the year on physical culture, and social ethics. Its aim is to fit young women to conduct and adorn a modern and Christian home. All girl students of Clark University, receive training in the Classes in Domestic Science.

A Kindergarten has been in operation for seven years, and we aim that this department shall not only afford training for children, but also be a course for the benefit of young women who look forward to work among the children.

COURSES OF STUDY

---

CLARK UNIVERSITY is a Christian school, founded in the year 1870 by the Freedman's Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. It is open to students of all classes, and both sexes, the sole conditions of admission being a desire to learn, good moral character, and obedience to lawfully constituted authority.

Location

The buildings and grounds are located just south of the corporate limits of the city of Atlanta, Ga. The campus is sufficiently elevated to overlook the city, and has perfect drainage on all sides. It is beautifully shaded with oaks and pines which, with its elevation—1,200 feet above sea level—makes it a delightful retreat even in midsummer. It would be difficult to find a more healthful location in the United States.

Accessibility

The South Pryor and Federal Prison electric car line passes the campus gate, affording frequent communication with the center of the city. Atlanta is the great railroad center of the South, and is readily accessible from all points. The city contains about one hundred and eighty thousand inhabitants, and enjoys all the conveniences of modern city life making it an admirable location for a large school.

Buildings

Chrisman Hall, a large commodious brick building, named for Mrs. Eliza Chrisman, of Topeka, Kansas, is the main edifice. The two lower stories are devoted to recitation rooms, study rooms, library and offices; the upper, to professors' rooms, young men's dormitory, reading room and young men's reception room.

The chapel occupies the third floor in the south wing, and will accommodate an audience of six hundred. The dormitory accommodates one hundred students.

Warren Hall, a four story brick building, named in honor of Bishop Warren, contains the boarding department and young women's dormitory. The dinning hall is large enough to seat comfortably three hundred students; the dormitory accommodates ninety. The building is well equipped with kitchen, laundry, store-room, cold-storage, and other conveniences.

Thayer Home, named in honor of E. O. Thayer, D. D., of California, a former president of Clark University, accomodates thirty young women as resident students. This Home is for the training of young women in the essentials of home making, and for teaching of industries.

Ballard Hall, a brick structure, is a gift of the late Stephen Ballard, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The first floor is occupied by the Physical Laboratory and the Printing Depatrment. Large, well equipped Chemical and Biological Laboratories and lecture-room occupy the second floor.

The Iron-working Department occupies a one-story brick building.

There are also on the grounds a modern barn and other out buildings for the use of the Agricultural Department.

A new dairy barn and creamery have been erected during the past year, equipped with the most modern appliances for sanitary and efficient service in caring for this part of our work. The barn and creamery both have cement floors, electric lights, and the best arrangement for proper care of milk. This entire plant, costing $3,000, is the gift of Mr. William Deering, of Chicago, Ill.

Terms of Admission

Students are admitted and classified by examination, or by certificates from accredited schools.

Every student may choose the course he wishes to pursue, but when it has been chosen, he cannot change it without the consent of the faculty. Special students may select such courses as, in the judgment of the faculty, they are capable of pursuing profitably, but no change will be made in the schedule of recitations to accomodate them. Pupils coming from other schools must present a certificate of honorable dismissal.

No pupil will be assigned to a room or admitted to a class until he presents a ticket showing that he has settled with the Registrar. The act of registration pledges all pupils to obey the regulations of the school until formally released therefrom.

In addition to the observance of specific regulation, all students are expected to work. Immorality, the use of alcohol and tobacco will not be allowed. The discipline of this school is designed to encourage self-government. Every influence is thrown around the student to develop culture and character.

The purpose of the institution is to promote broad and accurate scholarship, along with a high type of character.

Those who disregard the few necessary rules framed for the individual and general good, separate themselves from the University.

Emphasis is placed upon the development of the individual life. Privileges and restrictions are for individual students. Scholarship and deportment determine standards, not length of residence nor years of registration. Due consideration is given to those who prove themselves trustworthy. The broad-minded, large-hearted, self-controlled person is the one fitted for unity of action with his fellows who seek to serve others. Social service not self-seeking is commendable.

The Religious Atmosphere

The life of the University from its beginning has been directed by men and women of unswerving faith in Christainity. No religious tests are imposed on any student. Perfect freedom is guaranteed to everyone. At the same time it is true that the authorities of the University believe that religious development is a matter of primary importance, and that no intellectual culture can compensate for this dwarfing of the religious nature.

The atmosphere of the University is frankly and unequivocally Christian. It stands for broad and strong scholarship and the highest moral and religious life.

Chapel exercises are held every school day. All students are required to be present at these exercises.

All boarding students are required to attend services each Sunday morning, Sunday School and Epworth League, and with the exception of Juniors and Seniors, are not allowed to leave the campus on Sunday without permission. A Silent Hour is observed by all on the campus Sunday from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m.

The dormitories of the institution have been repaired and refitted with a view to making the students as comfortable as possible in every way. The rooms are well lighted and are furnished with plain and substantial furniture. Students furnish pillows and bedding.

No student will be allowed to room in town unless all the rooms in the halls and the "Home" are occupied, and in no case will a student be allowed to room, work, or board in town unless arrangements have first been made with the President. There will be no exceptions to these requirements. Students are expected not to arrive or depart on Sunday, and visitors are expected to come on other days than Sunday.

All bills are due in advance. Students whose bills are not settled within ten days after due may be excluded from the school.

Students in the halls are under the personal care of the teachers, and those who room elsewhere are held amenable to the laws of the school. Students will report to President on arriving in town. Any arrangements made otherwise will not hold good.

Patrons, friends of the school and those who wish to become students, are asked to correspond with the President. They will at all times address him at Clark University, Atlanta, Ga.

A Word to the Parents

We discourage extravagance in dress, and we wish the parents of the students and the friends of Clark University to help us. Let your daughters wear plain hats, pretty and neat, but not loaded with feathers and lace. Silk and Satin skirts and waists, silk and ribbon sashes and laces will not be allowed to be worn by the young women. Elaborate and expensive trimmings for dresses will not be allowed. Neither gloves nor white shoes will be worn by those who graduate. It is always in poor taste to be overdressed, and especially so with girls in our Christian schools. Jewelry must not be worn. Let the adornment of young women be that of character and intellect—not expensive showy clothes.

Expenses

Board, per week .....	$2.00
Room, fuel and light, per week .....	.50
Fuel for Washing, per week .....	.25
Incidental fee per four weeks, 1st and 2nd year Academy .....	1.50

Eight lessons on piano .....	$3.00
Use of piano, one hour per day, per semester .....	1.50
Manual training fee, per semester .....	1.50
Fees for diplomas and certificates—
College degrees .....	5.00
Academy and Normal certificates .....	3.00

A charge of $1.00 is required each semester of boarding students upon entering school to cover possible damages to room furnishing and supplies.

The institution requires of every boarding student one hour's work each day for the University. Hitherto we have been able to furnish a few students with work on the campus to the amount of two or three dollars per month, but we cannot guarantee to furnish work. It is possible for a few deserving students in the advanced classes to secure loans, through the recommendation of the University, from the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

On arriving in Atlanta, take any east bound car at the Terminal Station and ask for a transfer to the South Pryor and Federal Prison car and get off at the campus gate, in full view of the University buildings. Arriving at the Union Station, take the South Pryor and Federal Prison Car at the Whitehall Street viaduct. Bring your check with you and present it to the Registrar who will have your trunk transferred for thirty-five cents. By so doing you will save money. Students are requested to avoid Sunday travel as much as possible.

Plan to arrive in the city in daylight, as it is inconvenient to reach the University at night.

When parents send daughters without an escort, if they will notify the President of the time of their arrival, some one will be waiting at the station to receive and conduct them to the University.

Money should be sent direct to the President, who will credit it as instructed, and send a receipt by return mail. This will guard against extravagance. Instructions from parents as to the amount to be allowed for personal expenditures will be strictly followed.

Students should be provided with umbrellas, overshoes and waterproof garments, as recitations are conducted without regard to weather.

The students will furnish their own towels, quilts and blankets, sheets, pillows, pillow cases and napkins. This rule must be observed, and if students come unprovided with them they must be purchased of the University.

A charge of ten cents extra will invariably be made for meals served in the room.

All students on arriving at the University, are required to pay tuition, one month's board, and room rent in advance, and no part of this will be refunded except in case of disabling illness. Students will not be assigned a room or be classified till one month's expenses are paid. Music must be paid eight lessons in advance. Money for music will not be refunded.

In tuition and room rent no deduction is made for less than a month. No discount to anyone but pastors and local preachers whose licenses are dated for that school year, and to them only when bills are paid in advance. The University cannot offer any free tuition but some can work a part of their expenses providing the first payment remains as a guarantee that the work will be done properly, and for the length of time engaged.

Each student will be required to give some time to work each term for the University, at the option of the President or Dean. Students do this usually with pleasure and feel that in this way they are building their lives into the University and are helping others.

Without text books it is impossible to accomplish satisfactory work. We cannot expose both student and teacher to a serious disadvantage, and, therefore, shall exclude from the classroom all students who are not provided with necessary books. Every boarding student is expected to come furnished with a Bible. Students must pay for books when they take them from the book room. No credit on books.

The students have access to three reading rooms: two for the young women in Warren Hall and Thayer Home respectively and one in Chrisman for the young men. These rooms are supplied with the leading magazines and secular and religious papers.

Literary Societies

The Alpha Sigma and Philomathian Societies for young men and the Marigold Club for young women furnish ample opportunity for practice in extemporaneous speaking and parliamentary usage.

The Marigold Club Scholarship

The Marigold Club Scholarship of $50, founded in 1907, is open to the young women of the school on the following conditions:—

No. 1. The scholarship is to be given to an ambitious girl prepared to begin the work of the fifth Academy Year.

No. 2. She must be a sincere, sober and zealous Christian.

No. 3. She must pass special examinations in the Second Year English, Latin, Mathematics and History with an average of 90 per cent.

In the work of the Third Year she must maintain an average of 80 per cent. in order to retain the scholarship for the following year.

No. 4. If a Clark University student, she must maintain an average of 80 per cent. in her past year's work, in order to be a candidate for the scholarship. She must also have an unquestionable record of deportment.

No. 5. She must at the time of examination, write an essay containing five hundred words on some subject presented by the Marigold Club. The essay, together with her examination paper, is to be rated by the English Instructor of Clark University and one Instructor from two other schools. The essay must be marked as high as 90 per cent.

No. 6. Any young woman desirous of taking the examination for the scholarship must make formal application to the Secretary of the Faculty on or before the second Saturday after the opening of school in the fall. The examinations will begin on the third Friday of the school year.

No. 7. The application for the scholarship must be endorsed by the principal of the school that the candidate last attended, and by three good women of that church.

Health

This important consideration is not overlooked. Every precaution is taken, and that advice given which promotes a sound physical nature and good spirits. It is required that the rooms be kept neat and wholesome and that the students thoroughly wash and clean their rooms twice a week.

Athletics

An athletic field, with football, baseball, running track, parallel bars, tennis court, and other physical attractions, has been provided for students.

These games and amusements afford the required physical exercise, so essential to those subject to the indoor life incident to study. The games and amusements are under the direction of a competent manager.

Necessary training to correct expression of thought and action, and clear enunciation is given. The Physical Culture gives ease of movement and courtesy of manner is taught. The play spirit is directed, and out of door exercise every day is required of each student.

Information Relating to Entrance

The privileges of all departments of the University are extended to both sexes alike. The students of the Academy and Normal Departments enjoy all privileges open to the students in the College Departments, including library, lectures, laboratories, religious and social privileges.

Examinations for admission to any of the departments of the University are held in the fall at the opening of the college year. See announcements.

Students entering on other than registration days are required to pay a registration fee of one dollar in addition to other incidentals.

All applicants for admission to the first year of the Academy or Normal School must either present a certificate showing that they are prepared to enter those courses, or pass an examination in the subjects required for entrance.

All students are to be in school at the beginning of the year.

Special Music Students

Special students in music will be enrolled on condition that they devote themselves to diligent study. English and another subject is required. Students in voice and piano will be required to appear in private and public recitals. The Chorus is composed of all students in the School.

Admission to Advanced Standing

Candidates for advanced standing are not admitted later than October of the year in which they expect to graduate, unless approved by the President and Faculty. All students from other schools must give satisfactory evidence of preparation for the course that they desire to enter. No advance credit will be given without examination, except for work done in an approved school. No student will be recommended for a Bachelor's degree until credit has been obtained for at least one full year of work in residence at this institution.

Any applicant deficient in not more than one of the subjects required for the rank to which he seeks admission, may be admitted conditionally. All such conditions must be removed before the student will be permitted to begin the work of the next year.

Courses of Study

The courses of study here presented and scheduled are the ones provided by the annual Association of College Presidents of the Freedmen's Aid Schools at the annual meeting in Nashville, Tenn., March 4-9, 1910. The purpose in making these courses is to provide for uniformity in the plan of instruction and to secure the twofold purpose of education: first: to acquire knowledge, and second: to train the mind to think.

The completion of either of these courses will lead to graduation. Those completing the Classical Course will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Those completing the Normal Course will receive a diploma. Those completing the Academy course will receive a certificate.

The credit system is established along with the new curriculum. The Classical College Course contains 152 credits; the Preparatory Course contains 190 credits and the Normal Course entire 200 credits. By "credit" is meant the number of recitations per week in a single study. This is indicated on the schedule pages, by the small figures following each study as it is named. The 190 credits and the 152 credits of the College course making 342 are necessary for graduation in the Classical Course, and 200 in the Normal Course.

All candidates for graduation are required to be present at the services at which the Baccalaureate service is preached, also to participate in the commencement exercises as the faculty may determine. On both these occasions the academic costume (cap and gown) must be worn.

All University fees must be paid by each candidate before a diploma is issued to him.

Departments of Instruction

The University comprises the following departments: The College, The Academy, The Normal, a school of Agriculture, Printing, and Domestic Science.

Synopsis of Courses of Study

Agriculture—Professor Heard

The Agricultural Department at Clark University is open to students desiring to take a course in agriculture. Persons applying should be 16 years of age, of good moral character, in good health and willing to work.

Clark University Agricultural Courses

COURSE I.

This course is planned for beginners who are expected to work as well as learn the theory of the work.

First Semester

HARVESTING CROPS. Hay, ensilage, sweet potatoes, cotton, corn, and the marketing of the same.

FALL PLOWING. Deep plowing, terraces, ditches, &c.

FALL SOWING. Clover crops and grazing crops; vetch, clover, alfalfa, rape.

Second Semester.

CARE OF FARM TOOLS AND FARM ANIMALS. Housing of tools, farm buildings, fences, orchards. Winter care and feeding of stock.

COURSE II.

This is a more advanced course and requires preparation equal to that of the Second Year Normal.

First Semester

THE FARM. Location, markets, purchase of lands, rents, taxes, &c.

FARM EQUIPMENT. Tools, implements, live stock, drains, wells, streams, woods.

FARM LABOR. Hired men, management of men, wages, tenant labor, contracts, payments, labor-saving machinery.

Second Semester

FARM PRODUCTION. Soil, climate, fertilizers, selection of crops, rotation of crops.

MARKETING. Preparation of crops for the market, choice of market, creditors, competitors, middleman, legal requirements, weights, measures, package, commissions, inspection.

RECORDS AND ACCOUNTS. Farm accounts, field accounts; stock accounts.

COURSE III.

Extension work.

This work is proposed for those who cannot attend the school and consists in:

Institutes in the country districts.

Lectures.

Demonstrations.

A Round-up Institute at the end of the season with the comparison of results.

Astronomy—Professor Taylor
ELEMENTARY ASTRONOMY.

Bible—Miss Foster

I. A STUDY OF THE BIBLE.

This course is required of the Third Year Normal, Academic III. V., VI., Junior and Senior College students.

Biology—Professor Hill

BIOLOGY I.

General Biology or Elementary Biology; lectures, recitations and laboratory exercises.

BIOLOGY II.

Advanced Biology; Zoology; Comparative Anatomy of the Vertebrates and Embryology; or Botany; Plant Morphology and Plant Physiology.

Biology I. required for admission to Biology II. Laboratory exercises, lectures, and excursions.

Students who intend to pursue the professional study of Medicine are advised to take both Biology I. and II.

Chemistry—Professor Hill

CHEMISTRY I.

Three hours per week, with two hours of laboratory work counting one hour.

The first year is devoted to the study of General Chemistry. Remsen's College Chemistry is the text-book used. During this term the students are familiarized with the general principles and theories of Inorganic Chemistry, illustrated by appropriate experiments. Each student is provided with a desk and the necessary reagents and apparatus.

THE CLARK UNIVERSITY CATALOGUE

THE LIBRARY OF THE
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

Students are required to perform personally all the experiments as arranged by the text, under the personal supervision of the director. Special attention is given to this course and every endeavor will be made to keep it abreast with the requirements of current Chemical Science.

Additions in the way of apparatus are being constantly made, and a Chemical Library, containing the latest and most necessary books, is at the disposal of the students.

CHEMISTRY II.

One hour per week, with two hours of laboratory work counting one hour.

Course given in Qualitative Analysis. During this term students are required to balance equations representing the reactions of reagents and metals, and from a Chemist's standpoint to inquire into these reactions and understand the scientific reasons for what they observe.

CHEMISTRY III.

Organic Chemistry. Lectures, illustrated by experiments, are given throughout one semester of the Junior year.

In view of the fact that many students, who intend making medicine or Pharmacy their profession, desire Organic Chemistry; special attention will be given to their needs in this course.

Special attention is given to the amount of Laboratory expenses. They average less than the usual amount charged.

Carpentry

This course in carpentry covers three years. Each student is given instruction in the following branches of the trade: House carpentry, and joinery also productive work is always on hand which affords an exceptional opportunity to get acquainted with practical work. The shop is supplied with necessary tools and benches with a large floor space which is well ventilated.

FIRST YEAR.

First semester.—Care of shop, study of materials, names and uses of tools, care of tools, lessons in sawing, lessons in planing, beveling, leveling and plumbing; making simple productive articles, such as tables, plain door frames and flower stands.

Second semester.—Cleaning and sand papering, selecting materials, cutting of floor joists, studding and bridging.

SECOND YEAR.

First semester.—Review of first year's work, advanced work, such as mantels, newels, wash stands, bureau and book cases.

Second semester.—Cutting and placing sills, joists, girders, plates and look outs, cutting common rafters, hip and valley rafters, framing gutters and getting length of braces.

THIRD YEAR.

First semester. Review of second year's work, weather boarding, shingling, laying floors, ceiling, wainscoting, constructing stairways and porches.

Second semester.—Fitting and hanging doors, putting on hardware, plans and specification and making bills of lumber.

Cooking

(See Department of Domestic Economy.)

Domestic Science

(See Department of Domestic Economy.)

Dressmaking

(See Department of Domestic Economy.)

Economics—President Foster

PRINCIPLES OF ECONOMICS.

This course gives an introduction to economic theory, and also furnishes some insight into a number of economic problems.

Electricity

(See Physics II.)

English—Professors Arnold and Miller and Miss Smith

The work in English has been arranged with a view to securing the following results: a general survey of English Literature from the earliest period to the present; the cultivation of a fondness for reading, and an appreciation of good literature; readiness and facility in both oral and written expression; and a training in rapid and intelligent note-taking.

1. A. Rhetoric and Composition—First Semester. For class study "Sketch Book," "Lady of the Lake."

B. Rhetoric and Composition—Second semester. For class study: "Snow Bound," "Twice Told Tales."

Collateral Reading in Longfellow, Whittier, Hawthorne, and Lowell.

2. A. Elementary Guide to Literary Criticism—First Semester. Drill in the fundamental principles underlying Literary Criticism, supplemented by illustrations chosen from standard writers.

THE CLARK UNIVERSITY CATALOGUE

B. A Brief History of English Literature—Second semester. Howe's "Primer of English Literature." For class study: "Ivanhoe," "Merchant of Venice." Collateral reading, "The Ancient Mariner," Selections from Wordsworth and Tennyson.

3. Rhetoric; Synonyms; Eight Essays—First semester. Drill in the elements of good style. Second semester. Rhetorical imagery and synonyms. Genung's Outline of Rhetoric."

4. Advanced Composition—Two short articles from every member of the class every week during the school year. During the first semester the student analyzes short story masterpieces as models, and later constructs original stories. During the second semester a special study is given to argumentation. At the end of this semester a formal Brief and Argument will be expected from each member of the class. Milton's "Minor Poems," Burke's "Conciliation."

5. A. Prose Masterpieces. The diction and distinctive characteristics of the great writers of prose. Each member of the class writes a theme discussing the peculiar merits of each of the authors studied.

B. Versification; Poetic Masterpieces. The mechanics of English versification and the diction and distinctive characteristics of the great poets.

6. A. Shakespeare—First semester. A careful and detailed study of three of Shakespeare's plays.

B. English poetry from 1830 to 1890—Second semester. Tennyson, Matthew Arnold, Clough, Mrs. Browning, Fitzgerald, the Rossetis, Swinburne, and other poets of the period.

French—Miss Foster

I. Chardenal's Grammar and easy translations.

II. Translation, advanced grammar and sight-reading.

III. Sight-reading, conversation, reading from the classics.

Greek—Professor Crogman

I. First Greek Book.

II. Greek Literature.

First Semester.

A. Xenophon's Anabasis.

Second Semester.

Anabasis completed.

B. Homer's Iliad or Odyssey.

First Semester.

- A. Herodotus { Invasion of Greece by Darius
 Battle of Marathon
 Invasion by Xerxes
 March to Europe
 Battle of Thermopylae

Second Semester.

B. Plato. Selections from Apology and Phaedo.

C. Xenophon's Memorabilia of Socrates.

First Semester.

A. Demosthenes' Olynthiacs and Phillipics.

B. Demosthenes completed. Aescylus, Prometheus Bound.

Goodwin's Grammar used throughout the course.

Geology—Prof. Hill

Introduction to Geology. Text book: Elements of Geology. Recitations and field work.

History—Prof. Arnold

I. GENERAL HISTORY.

This course is intended to familiarize the student with the great events and the leading characters in the development of the human race; and to assist him to a correct notion of historical periods and their relation to one another. First semester—Ancient History; Second semester—Medieval and Modern History. Myer's Revised Edition.

II. ENGLISH HISTORY—Andrew's History of England. Preparation of lectures. Essay work. First and second semesters.

III. AMERICAN HISTORY—A comprehensive survey of the germinal facts and forces of American institutions and the principles and motives that underlie and interpret the crises of our national life.

IV. CIVICS—An outline study of the origin and development of government and the development of political institutions in the United States. Garner's Government in the United States. Second semester.

Latin—Professors Crogman and Miller

I. First Latin Book.

II. Latin Literature.

First Semester.

A. Caesar (or equivalent).

Second Semester.

Caesar completed.

B. Cicero's Orations.

First Semester.

A. Cicero's Orations (completed).

B. Virgil's Aeneid.

Second Semester.

C. Virgil's Aeneid (completed).

First Semester.

A. Livy. Book XXI.

B. Horace. Odes.

Second Semester.

C. Horace. Odes (completed). De Senectute.

V. Latin Literature (continued).

First Semester.

A. Tacitus. Germania and Agricola.

Second Semester.

B. Tacitus (completed). Pliny's Letters.

Mathematics—Professor Taylor

I. ELEMENTARY ALGEBRA.

First and second semester.—Before entering this class, students should be proficient in arithmetic, especially in fractions, percentage, and square root. Wentworth's First Steps in Algebra is used and the work will extend through fractional equations.

II. PLANE GEOMETRY.

First and second semester.—Wentworth and Smith. In addition to the theorems that are proved in the text-book, students will be required to perform the solution of originals, consisting of theorems, constructions, loci, and numerical exercises.

Open to students who have completed Mathematics I and II.

III. SECOND YEAR ALGEBRA.

First semester.—This is a continuation of the first year's work and extends through quadratic equations. The Second Year Algebra is offered not only for the benefit of those who intend to take up College Algebra, but also for those who may not be able to take a regular course.

IV. A. SOLID GEOMETRY.

First semester.—In this class the following will be considered: the properties of straight lines and planes; of dihedral angles; of projections; of polyhedrons, including prisms and the regular solids; of cylinders; and of the measurement of surfaces and solids. Open to students who have completed Mathematics III.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE

B. REVIEW ALGEBRA.

Second semester.—This course is given because it is desirable that students should review the first two years' work in algebra before entering the freshman class, for it is not enough that a student should have once known his preparatory mathematics, he needs to know it at the time his college work begins in order that he may advance more rapidly.

A. COLLEGE ALGEBRA. Fite.

First and second semester.—The class will begin with quadratic equations and this will be followed by a study of ratio and proportion, variation, progressions, permutations, combinations, binomial theorem, logarithms and their applications to interest and annuities, with an introduction to the general theory of equations and determinants.

B. PLANE TRIGONOMETRY. Wentworth and Smith.

First and second semester.—Special attention is given to the solution of oblique triangles. Open to students who have completed Mathematics III. and A.

The six courses named above are required of all candidates for a degree.

*Students who wish to continue the study of mathematics beyond the required course may elect, at the beginning of their junior or senior year, any of the whole year courses from the following:

C. ELEMENTARY MECHANICS.

First semester.—a. Statics. Composition and resolution of forces, moments of force, general conditions of equilibrium, friction.

Second semester.—b. Dynamics. Velocities and accelerations, simple harmonic motion, work and energy. Open to students who have completed Mathematics B.

D. PLANE ANALYTIC GEOMETRY.

First and second semester.—An elementary course on the straight line and conic sections. Emphasis is put upon the plotting and upon the application of graphs. Open to students who have completed Mathematics B.

E. Surveying; theory and practice.

First and second semester.—The use and adjustments of the compass and Y level; the keeping of record and plotting of observations; calculations of heights, distances, and areas; elements of the theory of errors. Field work with the instruments will be carried on in small divisions. Open to students who have completed Mathematics B.

*If all or any part of the members of a class wish to continue in the manner as stated above, they must make application to the teacher in charge before the close of the school year which precedes the year in which they wish to begin the subject elected in order that the schedule may be made for the convenience of the said class.

Manual Training for Girls

(See Department of Domestic Economy.)

PEDAGOGY—Professor Miller

I. EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY.

A study of the Nervous System, the Senses and the Faculties of the Mind as outlined in Buell's Essentials of Psychology. Psychological Laws of the various activities of the mind are stated by the student, and he then forms Pedagogical Rules to supplement these laws.

II. HISTORY OF PEDAGOGY.

Lectures and recitations based on Compayre's History of Pedagogy. The aim is to discuss the principal educators and educational movements of Ancient, Mediaeval and Modern times.

METHODS.

A study of General Method with application to the teaching of common branches.

Constant reference is made to Pedagogy I, so that the psychological foundation is fully brought out. Much emphasis is placed upon the importance of real observation of things themselves and the complete expression of the idea gained. It is shown that ideas may be expressed in the general bearing of the body, dress and surroundings, actions, drawings, models, plans and manufactures, and by means of oral and written statements and in composition.

Model lessons are given by the instructor, students taking notes, after which is a class review, and full discussion is entertained. Students are selected to teach lessons before the class to be criticised by class and instructor. Our Grade Department offers splendid opportunities for observation and practice in Methods of Instruction.

IV. SCHOOL MANAGEMENT.

A systematic study of the principles of school management in reference to the character of the teacher, school discipline, correct morals and relation of school to the community. Lectures and recitations based on Seely's New School Management, and other standard authorities.

V. SCHOOL LAW AND ECONOMY.

A study of the laws governing schools, and the care of school appliances.

VI. REVIEWS.

Arithmetic, Grammar, History, Geography, and Physiology.

VII. MORAL SCIENCE.

Lectures and recitations on theoretical and practical ethics in relation to home, school and religious life.

VIII. PRACTICE TEACHING AND CRITICISM.

Normal Seniors plan and teach a subject in the grades one hour each day under close supervision. They are responsible for discipline and instruction. Each student here receives personal suggestion and advice.

The training department consists of two graded classes in charge of experienced teachers, who are responsible for the progress of the pupils. These teachers also aid in training the pupil teachers assigned to their charge.

Philosophy—President Foster

I. History of Philosophy. Greek and Roman Philosophy; Mediaeval and Renaissance Philosophy; Eighteenth Century and Recent Philosophy. First semester.

II. Christian Evidences. Second semester.

Logic. First semester.

Rudimentary Ethics. Second semester.

Physics—Professor Taylor

I. ELEMENTARY PHYSICS. The text-book used is "Lessons in Physics," by L. D. Higgins. The aim of this subject is to have the student not only see results, but also to prove them by laboratory experiments. During the first semester much attention is given to measurements, principally in the metric system, and this is followed by the study of fluid pressure, motion, force, heat, and energy. The work of the second semester is sound, light, magnetism and electricity. The student is required to keep a neat and accurate record in a suitable note-book, of all work done by him in the laboratory throughout the school year, and the same is submitted to the instructor for criticism. Recitations and lectures, two hours a week; laboratory, four hours a week.

In the study of this subject, problems are numerous, the aim being to exercise the student's reasoning powers, as well as to implant a clear knowledge of the fundamental principles of the subject.

II. ADVANCED PHYSICS. Black and Davis is used, and the work comes in the same order as stated above for Elementary Physics. Laboratory reference books: Stewart and Gee, Glazebrook and Shaw, Kohlrausch, Nichol.

PHYSICAL LABORATORY.

The Physical Laboratory occupies a large, well equipped room on the second floor of Chrisman Hall. It has recently been fitted up with tables and apparatus.

Physiology and Hygiene—Professor Hill

PHYSIOLOGY

Daily recitations in Physiology. In addition to the text-book, the skeleton, charts and diagrams of the different parts of the body are freely used.

HYGIENE

This course consists of ten lectures, in which it is designed to be thorough and practical.

Printing

I. Learning cases, names and styles of type, composition, distribution, care of presses, care of type, names and uses of printers' materials.

II. Transferring of matter. Lectures on job work. Job composition. Uses of job presses. Proof reading. Correcting proof.

III. Lectures on art of printing. Imposition. Job work in colors. Cylinder press work. Handling and cutting of stock. Lectures on styles

College Psychology—Dean Foster

This course to give such a knowledge of the mind as belongs to practical education. This course is devoted to the ground work of the science with its relation to controlling the emotions and direct the will.

Sociology—Dean Foster

This course aims to develop a scientific attitude toward social questions, to present an outline of social organization, and institutions related to social development.

Spanish—Miss Foster

I. Fort and Hill's Grammar and easy translations.

THE DEPARTMENT OF DOMESTIC ECONOMY

This department is carried on in Thayer Home, a modern and convenient building on the campus, erected and maintained by the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. A limited number of girls are resident students, who do the work of the home alternately, so as to give a practical knowledge of housekeeping. Lectures are given during the year on physical culture, and social ethics. Its aim is to fit young women to conduct and adorn a modern and Christian home. All girl students of Clark University, receive training in the Classes in Domestic Science.

COURSES OF STUDY

Dressmaking

I. Taking measures and drafting patterns from them. Cutting and making skirts from measure. Basting and fitting. Talks on selecting material and planning dresses. Making book of models. Practice work.

II. Fine hand work, making baby linen, outlining drawn work and fancy stitches. Making book of models. Practice work continuation of general dressmaking.

III. Study of system of dressmaking. Designing and trimming skirts, waists and sleeves. Making book of models. Practice work covering the entire course.

Time required.

Drafting.....	2 lessons a week
Model work.....	2 lessons a week.
Practice work.....	12 lessons a week.

All students are required to provide themselves with shears, tapemeasure and thimble.

Certificates from two courses will be given from this department. Candidates for the first must have general English education, and will be recommended as dressmakers.

For the second, in addition to the requirements of the above course, candidates must be graduates from the Normal course or from the College Preparatory course, with one year of practice teaching in sewing, and will be recommended as teachers of sewing.

Charge of $1.00 per month payable in advance.

Grade—Sewing

Sewing in the grades include linear sewing, on cardboard, canvas, and cloth, overhanding, hemming and running, felling, backstitching, darning and buttonholes. making model garments, and other plain garments.

Two lessons per week. Time: Each lesson, 45 min.

Normal and Academy Courses

The following courses are a part of the school curriculum and are required of all young women, of the Normal and Preparatory work.

Sewing

I. Overhanding, hemming, running, felling, backstitching, gathering, stroking, gathers and putting on bands; overcasting, button, hole stitching, hem-stitching, cross-stitching, feather-stitching; outlining; practical application of above stitches; cutting and making of under garments by pattern.

II. Folding and basting hems by measure; tucking, darning and patching; instructions in taking measure, and drafting patterns for underclothing, cutting and making of garments; practice work.

III. Plain machine work; drafting continued, buttonholes and eyelets; cutting and making garments and shirtwaist suits.

IV. Lectures and written work on the history of sewing, its aim and object in education. Textile—cotton, linen, wool and silk. Articles used: scissors, pins, needles, etc.

Practice in teaching. One lesson per week. Time 1 hr. 30 min.

Cooking

I. First semester—Air in relation to life and fire, management and care of stove and range. Water, cleanliness, and cleaning. Definitions, tables, rules.

Fuel, food, starchy plants, potatoes, cereals, etc.

Second Semester—Tissue building foods; eggs, milk and dairy products.

Bread (Theory and practice).

II First Semester—Food in relation to life; body stuff, and food stuffs; Diet; Tissue building foods; flesh of animals, poultry, fish, etc.; Fuel foods; fats and oils; cooking in fat.

Second Semester—Sugar: candies, desserts, ice cream and water ices. Acids and salt supplying foods: fruits, vegetables; salads, cream of vegetable Soups.

III. First Semester—Preparation of foods, canning, jelly making, pickling, etc.

Second semester—Combinations and nutritive value of foods. Invalid cookery. Dietary standing, and preparation of breakfasts for family of forty.

IV. First semester—Demonstrations, Practice teaching.

Second semester—Waitress course, preparing and serving luncheons and course dinners.

One lesson per week. Time: 1 hr. 30 min.

Charge of one dollar per semester, payable in advance.

Kindergarten

A kindergarten has been in operation for seven years, and we aim that this department shall not only afford training for children, but also be a course for the benefit of young women who look forward to work among the children.

In the kindergarten the children learn to do by doing. The Kindergarten includes education games, through songs, and rhythmic exercises, through the handling of typical playthings, and through use of the typical employments, and through exercises and conversations based upon the study of nature, and of human life, all of this being carried on in accordance with certain fundamental laws, that are found operating throughout the universe.

Tuition one dollar per month.

For particulars concerning any department in school of domestic economy, address Miss Flora Mitchell, Superintendent Thayer Home, South Atlanta, Ga.
